Awards

The Bill Alspach & Dave Engerbretson Memorial Scholarship

Application Guidelines

Background. The Bill Alspach Memorial Scholarship fund was initially established in 1997 in honor of Clearwater Fly Caster member Bill Alspach. The fund was created to provide scholarships to students engaged in fisheries research and management studies at the UI, WSU, LCSC and EWU.

Bill passed away in 1997. Shortly after Bill's death, friend and outdoor writer Craig Lannigan wrote a tribute to Bill. In part he said, "Bill always made fly-fishing simple. He enjoyed what the river would give him and did not expect anything else. Never would he neglect greeting a newcomer to the river. He would often spend more time talking about fly-fishing than fishing, well almost. There were no secrets with Bill; he would freely share his expertise, and he was an expert. Here's to a fine man, gentleman and a lover of fly-fishing".

In 2004, Dave Engerbretson's name was added in recognition of his contributions to fly fishing in many different areas. He did research for the genetic hackle industry, had close ties to and tested fly lines for a major manufacturer of fly angling equipment. He received, field-tested and wrote about waders, reels, rods, fins, bags and various other types of equipment. He also traveled and wrote extensively on fishing locations, lodges, and his experiences from around the world. Dave inspired countless novices and more experienced fly fishers at expositions, conclaves, and through his classes at WSU, for the UI Enrichment Program, and many other educational settings.

In recognition of Dave's dedication to the advancement of fly anglers knowledge and skills everywhere, the scope of the scholarship was expanded to include any aspect of fishing education. Dave passed away in 2003.

Bill and Dave were friends and both were very active members of the Clearwater Fly Caster for many years. The membership of the club thought both men would be honored to have the others name combined with his own on this scholarship. Both men left a rich legacy to the fly fishing community.

Application Process: Any undergraduate or graduate student involved with fisheries research and management, natural resources management, fishing education or other work fostering the knowledge of fishing shall be eligible for this award. Preference will be given to individuals who are involved with the conservation and restoration of wild fish, fisheries management, and/or stream and habitat restoration either through research, education, or extension.

The Board of Directors is responsible for decisions regarding allocations of funds and for continued fund raising activities and for defining application and award guidelines.

The scholarship is awarded annually in December each year or at the discretion of the Board of Directors.

How to Apply: Interested candidates are asked to submit the following to the Clearwater Fly Casters Board of Directors:

1. A one-page description of the proposed research project with the appropriate contact information for the student and a faculty advisor.
2. Letter of endorsement from the faculty advisor.

Where to Apply: Applications are to be submitted to the Board of Directors by November 1st of each year. Letters of Applications can be sent to:

Clearwater Fly Casters
PO Box 2149 C.S.
Pullman, WA 99165

Steve Allured - Benton Collins Award

The Steve Allured-Benton Collins Memorial Award is given to a member of the club in recognition of outstanding contributions to the activities of the Clearwater Fly Casters, conservation, and the sport of fly-fishing. The recipient receives a certificate in recognition of the award. The recipient also receives a framed display case of flies that was put together by Steve Allured and Dave Engerbretson in the 1970s. Club members tied the flies contained in the display case. The framed flies are to be passed on each year to the succeeding winner.

Award Administration: The president shall ask for at least three past recipients of the award to volunteer to be on the selection committee. The selection committee will include the three volunteer past recipients and the current board of directors. Once the selection committee is staffed the president shall ask the general membership for nominations to be given in secret to any member of the selection committee. Each nomination should include supporting evidence and can be communicated in either verbal or written form. The selection committee shall vote on a recipient. The award should be made annually or as appropriate.

Currently the president announces the selection committee at the January meeting and calls for nominations to be submitted by the February meeting. The selection committee is to meet and select an award winner prior to the March meeting. The award should be presented to the recipient at the March meeting.

Newsletter

The newsletter of the Clearwater Fly Casters shall be called The Tippet. It shall be published on a monthly basis during the general meeting schedule. Currently the general meetings are scheduled, September through May.

Website

The club shall maintain the web domain name of www.clearwaterflycasters.com and hosting services to provide information on club activities for members.

Motions Approved by the General Membership

Any member in good standing can bring forth motions during any general club meeting. Another member prior to opening discussions must second any motion brought forth.
